Delicate.

If there he such a thing as a diplomat with a sense of humor, he will be chuckling over the Ethlopian emperor's refusal to play the role in which Italy's ambitious leaders have cast him. Halle 6-leasts simply was not cut out to be bushicrous, apparently.

Justead of behaving like a child of darkest Africa, he is exhibiting an acute perception of the high laws of civilization which were embedded in the Lengue of Nations pact. He refuses to believe might maken right, or that Ethlopia is legitimate prey for a nation which would like to gobble

He is not hawling in the wilderness, but preparing polits and statesmanlike protests Geneva, capital of International justice. He doesn't trust itnly's intentions as party to arbitration with Ethiopia and says so. As Italy puts it, the situation is delicale.

Broadly interpreted, "delicate" means in this case that members of the League of Nutions may be obliged to do something about Italy's actions regarding Ethiopia, or to do nothing and thereby admit that international justice cannot be made available to some nations, due to "exceptional circumstances." Such an admission would be damaging. In another instance, it disillusioned China completely. The whole thing would be so much caster were Emperor Hallo Schuszle to behave like the barbarian Italy wants him to be Then il would be plain there was nothing to do but take steps to trim him down to size. While he insists on standing up for rights based on international law he is bound to get sympathy. Haly can't afford to slight his sympathizers, but they can't afford to slight Italy, either. "Delicate" searcely begins to describe how touchy the situation may become before it finally is dissolved by time and the mysterious machinations of national destiny.

In The Middle.

Gen. Johnson filled the all with thunder the other night, telling his countrymen the national accovery act was being halfed in the back by monopolles. Smoll business, be and, should rise up and fight, because NRA is its operial friend.

Sen. Borah, on the other hand, never tires of pointing out that the recovery act is the oppressor of little business and the cham-pion of monopoly. It's a peculiar division of opinion, due to the senatur's record as a champion of little fellows and the general's familiarity with blg ones.

Some critics are unkind enough to that it Gen. Johnson hadn't placed a blue eagle over every cash register in the country the recovery act wouldn't be in such a bad way now. It's difficult sometimes to figure out wherein lies the man's consistency, but this time there's no trouble. He is standing by his own policy of com-

Usually, when responsible men disagree the truth will be found somewhere between their opposite viewpoints. Gen. Johnson whatever else he may be, still is the blue eagle's godfather, and he should know what he is talking about. So should Sen Borah, who preceded the general as a national figure and is outlasting him. It seems a reasomable conclusion, therefore, that the tecovery act has neither saved nor condemned either small or big business. That's a simteach but an important one. It explains much that would be hard to explain on any other basis.

Wage Protest Premature.

It could have been predicted weeks ago that when the Bosses-ell administration finally got around to announcing the work relief wage scale there would be immediate protest from organized labor. Frustrated In its attenual to force the severement to pay prevailing wage scales on work relief projects the American Erderation of Labor to be rescutful of any decision the government might make. Its policy of adjusting relief wages somewhat lower than prevailing weges in private industry and somewhat higher than the dole is incapable of producing anything pleasing to the federation and its legislative allies.

Their right to protest is far from clear. They were defeated in the fight over the McCarran amendment, which would have forced the government to pay high wages for relief work. It was decided to leave a fair wage policy up to President Rossevelt. Possibly, the rates announced, which range from a $19 monthly minimum for unskilled labor in certain southern states to a $94 aximum for professional and technical workers in the urban areas of certain northern states, are not high enough. The point is dispulable, however. The American Federation of Labor may not be giving enough weight to two facts.

First, the work relief program is an experimental substitute for the direct re-Hef program, or dole. Second, the object of work relief is, as the name implies, to provide relief by giving jobs, for which a definite public appropriation is available. Organized labor argues that wage scales lower than those prevailing for private employment in a given community tend to undernine private wages, but the point is controversial. Some economists feel contain the tendency to freeze wage scales and prices in a period of recovery is a handicap to enterprise. The American Federation of Labor is theorizing about work relief in the same way the government is, its opinions are not authoritative.

The government seems to have availed linelf fromly of exceptions to its hasic policy. Besides the CCC, which provides food, clothing and sheller for its beneficiaries, employes of the PWA, existing work relief projects, highway and grade crossing climinution projects and supervisory and admilalstrative departments are excepted from the standard work relief wage scale. In addition, employes of such further projects as the works progress administrator may care to exempt are excepted. That gives the government wide fallfude.

On the whole, it might have been better had the prevailing wage bloc postponed its protest until there was definite proof it had grounds for complaining.

Preading non-partisan financial prognosition has burst into headlines with a prediction that President Roosevelt will be relected next year. This is substantially the private view of some of the most astute Republicans in congress, as expressed during the last two weeks.

What they believe is that the Democratis have "Tammanyized" the country, as they call it. They mean that Mr. Roosevelt's associates have built up strong precinct organizations out through the country. These certainty comprise the strongest national political organization the Democrate veer had.

These underlying advantages have been overlooked by all except

The old telegram and letter method of lubbying is beginning to lose its influence on congressmen.

For example, Senotor Minton's capable accretary was thumbing through the morning mail the other day. An observer noted that he threw half the letters not the waste basket without opening them, and maulred why.

Oh, those are all utility letters against the holding company bill," the secretary replied.

This was doubted by the observer, wha notized that the envelopes were of different slaze and were addressed by different hands, Plunging into the waste basker, the observer opened each letter and discovered the secretary explained his psychic trick by pointing out that the letters of one day usually came from the same town, next day they happened to be from Troy, N. much or more public attention than the new deal.

This is so obvious that all persons with the sense of sight or hearing already know it. But the polliteleans are not overestimating the influence of it.

In fact, one of the reasons why some Republicans are taiking flown their chances now is to hold back on the spread of antinewded publicity. They believe it get slarted too soon, that their will be a natural reaction. They realize fully the equal of greater importance of organization and expenditures.

The status of these three major factors may be altered within the conting year. It is, therefore, too early new for anything except good guesses. That is all these current opinions are.

International monetary stabiliza-tion is a lot closer than it looks. Re-marks by Morgenthau, Neville Chamberian and other spokesmen Chambetian and other spokesmen indicate that each nation is willing of stabilize if someone clee will start the ball rolling—but this retiteme is chiefly for the purpose of convincing the home folks in each country that their respective governments don't intend to be taken in by foreign slickers.

Well-posted sources learn that real progress is being made despite the "after you Alphonee" attitude. This in't to say that stabilization will be netweed next week or next

You couldn't ask a better up-off on whal's happening behind the scener. Industrial opposition has been cirtually called off. Big business is more alarmed by the recent flowering of left wing labor sentiment than by the threat to its cherished company unions. But don't think for a moment that industry intends scrupulous obedience to the law if it goes through. What are courts for if not to defend business against such unconstitutional invasion of its rights? Let the bill pass—and then challence it with deliberate disregard.

ATIRE repair can be just so so-or it can make your tire good for many, many miles extra service.

Our Tire Hospital is in charge of a D.T.R .-Doctor of Tire Repairs - a trained specialist.

When he repairs a tube, he doesn't just slap on a cold patch and hope it sticks - he vulcanizes it.

And when he fixes a casing, it lakes a sharp pair of eyes even to find the rebuilt part. Nor does he jam it back on a rusty rim. He accupes
